DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to the communication filed on October 20, 2009. Claims 11-26 are pending. Claim 26 is newly added by the applicant. At this time claims 11-26 are still rejected.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed October 20, 2009, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 12 under 35 USC 103 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Stewart et al (US 6,414,635 B1) and further in view of Genenaro et al (US 5,937,066).

Applicant's arguments filed October 20, 2009, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 11, 13-25 under 35 USC 103 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has amended claims 11 and 21 to include limitation "portable computing apparatus visiting the pre-determined geographical area, wherein said information enables interaction with trusted components of said trusted computing platforms." The new citation for this new limitation will be addressed and shown below in this office action.

The fact that Examiner may not have specifically responded to any particular arguments made by Applicant and Applicant's Representative, should not be construed as indicating Examiner's agreement therewith.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 11, 13-22, 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Stewart et al (US 6,414,635 B1).

a. Referring to claim 11:

i. Stewart teaches an information system comprising:

(1) an information access point relating to at least one pre-determined geographical area, said information access point including apparatus for retrieving information relating to trusted computing platforms located within said pre-determined geographical area (see Figures 1-3, column 2, lines 54-66; column 3, lines 6-32; and column 8, lines 9-12 of Stewart), said information system being arranged to provide said information to a portable computing apparatus visiting the pre-determined geographical area, wherein said information enables interaction with trusted components of said trusted computing platforms (column 8, lines 9-23; column 16, lines 1-4 of Stewart).

ii. Although Stewart teaches an information system using access point with related pre-determined geographical area for network communication wherein the portable computing device (PCD) 110 equipped with a certificate to ensure security, Stewart does imply the teaching on the capability of communicating with trusted computing platform.

iii. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to:

(1) have modified the invention of Stewart to clearly state the portable computing device (PCD) 110 is the trusted computing platform.

iv. The ordinary skilled person would have been motivated to:

(1) have modified the invention of Stewart to clearly state the portable computing device (PCD) 110 is the trusted computing platform for securing transmitting information over the network.

b. Referring to claim 13:

i. Stewart further teaches:

(1) wherein said information access point comprises a trusted computing platform (see Figure 1, column 7, lines 15-31 of Stewart).

c. Referring to claim 14:

i. Stewart further teaches:

(1) comprising apparatus for communicating or interacting with a the portable computing apparatus (see Figure 1, column 7, lines 15-31 of Stewart).

d. Referring to claim 15:

i. Stewart further teaches:

(1) wherein said apparatus for communicating or interacting a the portable computing apparatus is arranged to perform said communication or interaction by physical contact or directional wireless communication (see Figure 1, column 7, lines 15-31 of Stewart).

e. Referring to claims 16-17:

i. Stewart further teaches:

(1) incorporating or accompanied by a declaration (e.g. certificate) concerning the trustworthiness of the system; wherein said declaration is capable of interpretation by a user of the portable computing apparatus without preprocessing by an information processing system (column 8, lines 9-12 and lines 55-64 of Stewart).

f. Referring to claim 18:

i. Stewart further teaches:

(1) arranged to verify the identity of a user (column 8, lines 9-12 and lines 55-64 of Stewart).

g. Referring to claim 19:

i. This claim has limitations that is similar to those of claim 15, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 15 above.

h. Referring to claim 20:

i. Stewart further teaches:

(1) wherein the information provided to the portable computing apparatus includes security attributes of the trusted computing platform within said pre-determined geographical area (column 8, lines 9-12 and lines 55-64 of Stewart).

i. Referring to claims 21-22, 24-26:

i. These claims consist a method to implement claim 11, 13-15, thus they are rejected with the same rationale applied against claims 11, 13-15 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 12 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stewart et al (US 6,414,635 B1) as applied to claim 12 above, and further in view of Gennaro et al (5,927,066).

a. Referring to claims 12 and 23:

i. Although Stewart teaches the claimed subject matter, Stewart does not clearly show wherein said information system is arranged to provide as said information only details and/or a list of public keys of genuine trusted computing platforms within said pre-determined geographical area (column 8, lines 9-12 of Stewart). On the other hand, Gennaro teaches this limitation in column 27, lines 27-31 of Gennaro.

iii. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to:

(1) have modified the invention of Stewart with the teaching of Gennaro for establishing keys between communicating parties (column 1, lines 9-10 of Gennaro).

iv. The ordinary skilled person would have been motivated to:

(1) have modified the invention of Stewart with the teaching of Gennaro to enhance wireless network security.
